Musical Talent

School Aids JFK Fund

Pennies, silver dollars and messages were among the recent contributions made by the Hardy School children in a Fund Raising Drive for the proposed John F. Kennedy Memorial Library in Cambridge. Members of the Hardy P.T.A. received approval from the Arlington School Committee and supervised the drive.

Pupils who represented the school in presenting a check for $367.81 to Attorney Edward B. Hanify of the Kennedy Memorial Library Corporation, have birthdays which coincide with events in the life of the late President.

Joy Bardaly has the same birth date, May 29 and Alan Bogosian, Louis Nardone and Stephen Sala were born on Jan. 20 the date of President

Kennedy's inaugural. The children were asked to donate from their allowance, Christmas money or "helping wages" and took home envelopes marked "I AM HELPING TO BUILD THE JOHN F. KENNEDY MEMORIAL LIBRARY."

In a letter, parents were asked for their cooperation. Using a quotation from a speech made by President-Elect Kennedy in Boston on Jan. 9, 1961 "...For of those to whom much is given, much is required", the letter read in part:

"Much has already been given us by the choice of a site in nearby Cambridge for the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library. Much is required for the erection of this ten million dollar memorial.

"As elementary school pupils, our children will have the great opportunity and privilege of visiting the library on field trips conducted by the Hardy School P.T.A. as they now travel to the Science Museum, Plimouth Plantation or around historical Boston. As college students they will have this multi-million dollar place of study so easily accessible to Arlington.

"Our children were a part of his life — we want them to be a part of his memory." Mrs. George Ericson, P.T.A. President, commented: "Having seen the enthusiasm

Town Clerk Ann Mahon announced this week that on Jan. 27 at 5 p.m., the last date and hour for filing nomination papers, there were 153 candidates for the 93 town meeting member vacancies to be filled at the annual Town Election on March 2.

Of these vacancies, 81 are for regular three year terms for which there are 125 candidates, including 61 candidates for re-election.

The remaining 12 vacancies are for one or two year unexpired terms, for which there are 28 candidates.

This year's figures show increased interest in this office of town meeting member over last year, when there were only 113 candidates for 100 town meeting vacancies.

Cow Terrorizes Child

JEAN PETER, right, showing her younger sister, Janet, the route taken by the runaway cow during the excitement in the Arlmont section of Arlington on Friday.

"Better than a T.V. program" was the comment made by one of the boys who gave chase to a runaway cow on Friday through the Arlmont section of Arlington.

Eleven-year-old Jean Peter of 42 Golden ave. wasn't quite as pleased with her encounter with the cow.

As she came into her backyard, the animal broke through the hedges of the adjoining property, tracked across the Peter's garage roof and down onto the patio. Jean was too frightened to get

Month of Decision

A far-reaching decision will be made this month by the people of Massachusetts. They will choose the amount of protection they wish against heart disease, our Number One Killer.

In every city and town in our Commonwealth, our neighbors will seek our support for the Heart Fund, the Massachusetts and American Heart Associations' agency for financing its lifesaving programs of research, education and community services.

These programs have proven successful in the most basic terms, those of human life and health.

One's doorstep contribution to the Heart Fund is transformed into the inspired research that makes possible the hyperbaric chamber, the Cardioverter, which restores failing hearts to strong and normal rhythms, the advances in treatment of rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease which have meant so much to our children.

It makes possible as well, less spectacular advances, all of which add something to the sum of the knowledge and techniques which constitute our doctors' arsenal against cardiovascular disease.

And it makes possible programs which bring this knowledge and these techniques out of the laboratory and the great teaching hospital into the offices of our family physicians, our front line against disease.

Yes, the Heart Fund has saved lives — too many to count — and to an impressive extent with research sponsored and executed within our borders. Fathers, mothers, young children, for heart disease is no respecter of age, are alive and well today because of work made possible by Heart Funds within the past few years.

Viewing the nature of our lives realistically, the need for continued and increased Heart Fund services is apparent. Our existence is becoming steadily more sedentary; the old myth that heart disease takes away only the aged has long been shattered as younger and younger people, mostly men, succumb in the prime of their lives.

In the light of these facts, it makes good sense, in terms of self-interest, to support the Heart Fund more than just adequately. Many fine projects which might have value for any of us have never gotten off the ground, simply because there isn't enough money to finance them.

The Heart Fund is our chance, as enlightened citizens, to move to protect ourselves against our greatest health enemy, and in doing so to help all mankind everywhere.

Let us make the most of our opportunity.

COLLINS CORNER

About 30 years ago, a fine citizen of this town had a dream, and that dream was the building of a skating rink in Arlington. His name was Herbert 'Dave' Buttrick, a fine athlete in Arlington High and at Mass. 'Aggies', now known as the University of Mass.

He called a few meetings of folks that he thought might be interested in the project, but it was during the days of the depression (which the youth of today fortunately do not know, and is hoped they never will) and money was difficult to raise. So, the thought just petered out.

He was willing at that time to donate part of his property to such a project so it could get off the ground. Well, it never did, and 'Dave' passed away a few years ago, with his dream.

But, now the Park Dept. of the Town have done a lot of researching, and have an article in the coming Town Warrant asking for an appointment of a committee to study the project and bring back the facts. All the information is in your warrant and all Town Meeting Members will be fully advised concerning all its phases.

If there is one community in the state, along with Melrose, that has kept hockey more in the foreground, we have never heard of it. But this is not a project that is 'hockey minded', as much as it is the first municipal complete auditorium considered, that in the long pull will pay for itself, and perhaps show a profit.

Since the 'dream' of Herb Buttrick, we have seen the privately owned Skating Club back of Soldiers Field in Cambridge, the Rinks at Lynn, Weymouth, and the ones at Framingham and Manchester N.H. that are conducted on the same basis as the proposed rink in Arlington.

Forget hockey for the moment and visualize the facilities for just skating by all ages. The youngsters and the 'old youngsters' who now and then like to get away from that Monster known as T.V.; family groups club members, 'figure eight' experts, and just plain everyday skaters.

It is not a new fad; but if it is placed in our town, it will be a 10 month well paying business.

Just look around, and if some of these readers are parents of hockey lovers, you will see them crawling out of their warm beds at all hours of the early morning to get in an hour of skating at the few places in our district.

The Chamber of Commerce and all business men should love this 'keep the business in Arlington', and the parents of all lovers of skating should be very happy. No going out of town, or even in cars, but just a little walk down at the corner of Mill st. and Summer st.

For a guy who once buckled on his clamp skates and hoped for no snow and plenty of smooth ice this is a dream of a life time. So you town meeting members read it over carefully and give it your unbiased thought.

To the Editor of the Advocate,

Dear Sir:

On behalf of all us package-mailers who besieged the Arlington Post Office before Christmas, we'd like to give a vote of thanks to David A. Wilcox and Sons, Inc., of 9 Court st.

We used their parking lot with all the frantic haste of nine bundles and a full street.

and some dopes even parked across their driveways. But the Wilcox people just exuded Christmas spirit, looked the other way and went on writing up insurance.

Our thanks, and grateful New Year wishes, Mr. Richards!

That Man About Town

By MAT

Well, here we go again. Tempers in some political quarters are beginning to mount, we hear. A 'letter to the editor' caused one candidate to become very irate at the paper.

This is not good for either side, we suppose. However, we assume that the Advocate will continue to print letters from the voting public and readers, whether they are for or against a certain candidate — if signed, with address given, telephone number too.

We also assume that letters which say 'name withheld by request' will be used, if actually signed. Warning to the boss (and we're sure he does not need to be) — check out those letters!

And speaking of these literary masterpieces, the ones that annoy us most are those that have obviously been written by some campaign manager, extolling the candidate, urging 'all' their friends to vote for so and so.

In the first place, they (often) have about three friends and Candidate So and So does not even know the author.

And, in this great Democratic, 'non-segregation'

To the editor:

I was very pleased to learn that Kevin Feeley, the candidate for Selectman, is the son of Doctor Edward W. Feeley who has been my family doctor for a good many years.

Doctor Feeley is a kind, understanding person who has brought happiness and warmth into our house along with his professional service.

The son of such a fine man, with his own excellent educational and family background, will go on to serve his town in the same outstanding manner as his father.

I know Kevin has long been active and interested in Arlington affairs and has a deep feeling for furthering town government.

The family today has become an important part of government. Outstanding families should be encouraged to take part in Town, City and State affairs.

As the father of two lovely children and the husband of a very charming and gracious wife, Kevin Feeley will add additional dignity and charm to the office of Selectman.

I urge all people concerned, with good government to join with me in voting for Kevin Feeley for Selectman in the elections on March 2nd.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Rita Daniels,
130 Mass. ave.

TEMPLE EMUNAH

A Torah Commencement service at Temple Emunah in the course of the Friday evening service Feb. 7, will honor the students in Class 'Gimel' of the religious school upon the occasion of studies in the Hebrew original of the Bible.

The service will be conducted by Rabbi Herbert Rosenblum and the Oneg Shabbat following will be tendered by the Temple Sistershood.

have a policemen on duty morning and evening to provide some protection at the cut-off, but this amounts to only a small percentage of the time.

I know that the state police are familiar with the situation and we all appreciate that changes are contemplated for Route 2.

But these changes appear to be some time away and meanwhile the death toll for pedestrians and motorists is steadily mounting.

It would seem imperative that, at the very least, this ever-present danger should be advertised in some way by warning lights and signs and by additional police protection whenever possible.

Sincerely yours, country of ours, we should be ashamed that the obvious nationality of a name is more important than the name. A successful campaign manager makes sure that 'his man' has Yankee, Jewish, Irish, Armenian, Swedish, Italian names listed as supporters — not necessarily distinguished citizens.

Tommy Rawson's entry into the race for Selectman really must have upset Blaffer and Feeley. This we pointed out last week.

In our opinion this makes incumbent Arthur Saul's position nearly impregnable. It makes the position of Blaffer and Feeley very vulnerable. Admittedly the name of Tommy Rawson has lost some of its 'bite' of the days of yore but he is still Tommy to many.

Blaffer and Feeley made their moves early; Rawson, at about the right time, as we see it. A surprise entry has certain advantages. Oldtimers will remember the contest between Marcus Sorenson vs. George Harris.

If Rawson can re-group his support of many years, he will be a definite threat for the second spot for the Board of Selectmen.

To the editor:

The proposal of the Planning Board to insert an article in the 1964 Town Warrant which would call for the rezoning of the Mill Brook Valley from Grove Street to Brattle st. and from 100 feet from Mass. ave. to the railroad tracks is something that should require a great deal of consideration.

To re-zone this area to a 'Resident E District' would preclude future business expansion. The proposal would upset the status quo unnecessarily, since some apartment house development has already occurred without a zoning change. The amount of land available for apartment house development is extremely limited.

The implication in the proposal that this area is inactive industrially is not consistent with the evidence that there are, at present, more than 15 different businesses now operating in this area. This says nothing of the future business and industrial development which is already being implemented.

The availability of a site, in the town of Arlington, for future industrial opportunities that could be most beneficial to the town must not be jeopardized. There may be some areas in this town now being utilized as residential areas that could be converted to industrial use, but none appears as well suited, because of the geographical location of the Central Mill Brook Valley.

This section of the valley is less apt to impede the physical attractiveness of the town than another area used for industrial purposes.

A town the size of Arlington requires a degree of industrial investment to insure a broadening of the tax base, and to provide earning opportunities for the younger people, as well as job opportunities for our citizens.

At the public hearing scheduled by the Planning Board at the Hearing Room of the Town Hall at 7:30 p.m. on Feb. 14th, we shall want answers to some of these questions, and many more too numerous to mention here.

Ronald A. Nigro.

Hats off to 'Brud' Faulkner and his team!

Nice guys do win ball games. 'Brud' Faulkner and his co-workers are proving it every day. They play a world 'serious' game which goes on day and night. They count their score by the number of young Americans they help to be a little better morally and physically. They strike out occasionally but they have a splendid batting average.

It takes hard work and long hours (you would be shocked if you considered what their pay per hour amounted to) to make a ball (boys) club a success. Thanks to 'Brud' and his team we have a winner in Arlington.

It's a nice feeling, when you think that we have 'nice' guys like Capt. 'Brud' Faulkner—Roy Fowler, Don Frye, 'Ed' Simpson and many others unselfishly helping our future citizens become better citizens.

My hat is off to 'Brud' and his team. Don't you agree?

HOLY NAME SPEAKER

Daniel I. Cronin, Deputy Director of the Boston Welfare department, will address the members of Saint James' Holy Name society, on Sunday, Feb. 9.

Cronin is the president of the Boston Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration, a member of the board of directors of Catholic Family counseling, and has been a consultant to the Massachusetts legislature and the New York State Department of Social Welfare.

His subject will be, 'New Opportunities for Youth'. The meeting in St. James school hall will immediately follow eight o'clock mass.

To the editor:

A short time ago, I was called in the early morning hours to assist a neighbor who was very ill and alone.

Realizing that the man was having a heart attack, I placed an emergency call to the Police station for help. An officer arrived within minutes and he immediately called for oxygen and an ambulance.

After first aid treatment at home, as a safety measure, the patient was removed to Symmes hospital and is now recovering.

So quietly and efficiently did these men work, that no one in the adjoining apartment ments were awakened or disturbed.

A salute to the men of the police and fire departments who not only guard our homes and our lives in their daily tasks; but, at times like this, when tragedy strikes, are as near as your telephone.

They are ready to help whether it be during the day or in the quiet hours of the night, while others sleep. (Name withheld by request.)

David G. Falwell, 14 Park ave. ext., was a member of the honors program held Feb. 4 at the College of Business Administration at Boston College.

Wed At St. James

On Jan. 18, Linda L. Roby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Roby, 353 Gray st., became the bride of Thomas A. Byrne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Byrne, 233 Lexington ave., Cambridge, at St. James church. Bishop Riley of Cambridge and Fr. Shinnick of St. James officiated. Mrs. Alice Manning was organist and Joseph Barry was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length white peau de soie gown, trimmed with seed pearls and sequins at the bodice and front panel. There were clusters of seed pearls and sequins on the shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Rockwell and Mrs. Charles Cummings, both of Arlington.

The attendants are all sisters of the bride and wore identical full length red velvet gowns, white fur pillbox hats and muffs, trimmed with holly and carnations.

The bride's mother wore an emerald green chiffon velvet dress with matching accessories and her corsage was of red and white roses.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a champagne beige dress with matching accessories and her corsage was of yellow roses.

Robert Byrne, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Peter Pignone and Leo J. Zillenski, both of Cambridge.

A reception, following the ceremony, was held at the Watertown Lodge of Elks.

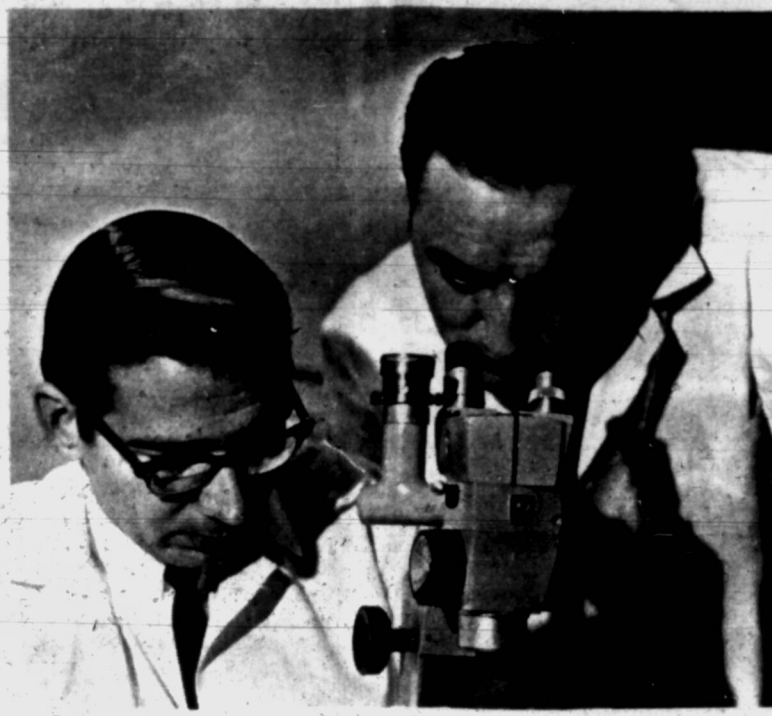

The bride graduated from Arlington High and Hickox secretarial school. The bridegroom graduated from Rindge and Burdette school of accounting.

After a honeymoon in Florida and the Bahamas, the couple will live in Arlington.

Important Discoveries In Diabetes Research

DR. I. ALDEN MACCHI (right) of Newton Upper Falls, associate professor of biology at Boston University's College of Liberal Arts, and Dr. Matthew F. Sak of Arlington, Mass., research associate at the graduate school, are shown examining an anesthetized diabetic hamster bearing a pancreas transplant in its cheek pouch.

Discoveries involving transplantation of pancreatic tissue to the cheek pouch of diabetic hamsters, which could be a possible aid in human diabetes research, have been made by an Arlington man and two other scientists at the Boston University Biological Science Center.

Dr. Matthew F. Sak, 19 Henderson st., Arlington, Dr. Samuel Beaser, Newton Highlands, both research associates with the graduate school, and Dr. I. Alden Macchi, Newton Upper Falls, associate professor of biology at the University's College of Liberal Arts, have been actively engaged in research on the vascular and renal pathologies of diabetes and the transplantation of pancreas for the past several years.

This research has been supported largely by funds from the U. S. Public Health Service and the Green Shoe Stride-Rite Charitable Foundation. The current project, entitled "Functional Competence of Hamster Pancreas Transplants," has been supported since January, 1963, by a $106,303 three year grant awarded to Doctors Macchi and Beaser by the U. S. Public Health Service.

The present investigations were initiated as part of a broad research program in endocrine tissue transplantation directed by Dr. Macchi and were designed specifically to provide a practical means for alleviating the clinical symptoms of diabetes mellitus as well as to provide basic information on the cellular mechanism of production, storage and release of insulin by endocrine pancreas.

It was found that pancreatic tissue from newborn hamsters transplanted to cheek pouches of adult diabetic hamster displayed normal cytochemical and structural characteristics after suitable periods of growth and also gave evidence of producing a substance similar to insulin in its bioassay behavior. While successful transplantation of pancreas has been reported previously in other laboratory animals, this is the first direct suggestion that such transplants may be capable of elaborating insulin and in which a correlation between cellular structure and function will have been established.

B.U.-Tufts Grad
Present work is being directed toward a more definitive chemical identification of the insulin-like material produced by the pancreas transplants as well as toward improving the transplantation procedures in order to improve the frequency of "takes" and the quality of established transplants.

Dr. Sak, who initiated this work as a part of his doctoral research under the direction of Dr. Macchi, reveals some of the problems encountered. "One of the main problems was determination of the severity and duration of experimental diabetes," says Dr. Sak. "Once the amount of insulin required to regulate a diabetic hamster was ascertained, transplants were then introduced. When beneficial effects occurred, we were reasonably sure that the transplant was responsible and did not reflect a residual or restored function in the host. At first the diabetes did not show improvement and we thought the transplants were nonfunctional. It was only after micro-bioassays for insulin were performed that we learned that transplants produce an insulin-like substance. We were then convinced that a diabetic hamster requires more insulin than can be supplied by one small transplant. Accordingly, multiple transplants have proven more successful."

Dr. Macchi concludes by saying, "While basic information obtained in these studies may eventually find practical application in human diabetes mellitus, it is still premature scientifically to contemplate applying our findings to man."

Dr. Sak received his B. S. from Tufts University and his M. A. and Ph.D. from Boston University. From 1956 to 1958 he was a teaching fellow and an instructor at Boston University's School of Nursing. During this time he was also an instructor at the Radcliffe School of Nursing, Massachusetts General Hospital. From 1958 to 1959 Dr. Sak was a research assistant in the Boston University Graduate School's Department of Biology. He became a research associate in 1963 upon receiving his Ph.D.

Dr. Sak is a member of the New York Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Zoological Society (Comparative Endocrine Division), and Sigma Xi. He is married.

Style Corner

They say confession is good for the soul. Then Stan Marquedant, kindly prefect at Jacques' men's wear coliseum, must be storing up an almighty amount of good this week.

He's admitting to earlier mistakes, buying blunders he made in terms of selections and quantities. And, in a veritable frenzy of atonement, he's cutting back prices on a wide number of clothing, sportswear and furnishings items. You'd think he knew something we don't know, like there was no tomorrow, the way he whittled down those prices!

Take for example: a selected group of white, blue or striped shirts in button-down or snap-tap collar styles. Originally $5 each, these beauties are now three for $10. That's a savings of a "finif" for every three shirts purchased.

Or, how about these furnishings items? All are whacked downtown 40 percent from regular, honest-injun prices at Jacques'... ROBES and PAJAMAS; LINED and KNIT GLOVES; ALL SWEATERS; ALL LODEN COATS, and SELECTED GROUP OF OUTERCOATS. That's right, 40% off.

CASHMERE CORNER... Cashmere sport coats, originally $65, now $39.50. Cashmere outercoats, originally $110, now reduced to $89.50.

SPORT COATS — Selected Harris Tweed and other fine fabrics, originally $45 and $49.50, now reduced to $29.50.

RAINCOATS—famous-brand, lined or unlined, 40% off. SLACKS—selected group of domestic and imported slacks reduced 20%.

FAMOUS-NAME SUITS that were $59.95 and $69.95, now reduced to $42.50 (slight charges for alterations on this group only.)

Open Thursday and Friday evenings til 9. Free Parking, and I hope our hearts will stand up under all this largesse from Stan the Man.

Arlington Romps by 9-0 Count 'Toz' Scores Three, Langone Stars

The front line combination of Deveaux, Toczykowski and Clarke pumped in six goals and set up another as Arlington High extended its undefeated streak to nine games with a 9 to 0 whitewash of Somerville before 1200 fans at the Boston Arena Saturday.

While goalie Bill Langone was recording his seventh shutout of the year (fourth straight), Charlie Toczykowski collected a hat trick and four assists. Buddy Clarke made two goals and five assists, and line-mate John Deveaux one goal and four assists.

Larry Cappello notched two goals and Bob Carr a singleton to account for the other Arlington goals.

In typical fashion, the local's offensive unit was continually on the attack, peppering Somerville goalie Ed Cullen with 41 shots while allowing only a handful of shots to reach Langone.

The Burnsmen tallied three times in each period while recording their eighth win against one tie to remain solidly entrenched in first place in G.B.I. play, — two points ahead of Brookline and Newton.

Scoring: 1st, Arlington — 3:12 Deveaux (Clarke and Toczykowski), Arl. — 5:06 Toczykowski (Clarke and Deveaux), Arl. — 6:42 Clarke (Deveaux and Toczykowski).

2nd, Arl. — 0:35 Carr (Clarke and Toczykowski), Arl. — 1:39 Cappello (Ronn), Arl. — 9:05 Toczykowski (Deveaux and Clarke).

3rd, Arl. — 0:40 Toczykowski (Clarke), Arl. — 4:18 Cappello (Carr), Arl. — 6:18 Clarke (Toczykowski and Deveaux).

There were only six seniors bowling 100 or above. They include Jack Beck, 114 and 111; Vinnie Masciulli, 107 and 103; Steve Linehan, 104; Don Shepard, 104; Bob Deguglielmo, 102, and Dave Wyse, 101.

In the Intermediate division the "Pans" successfully defended their position in first place when they took all 8 from the Jets.

Six Intermediates were able to raise their scores above 95, including George Masciulli, 105; Jim O'Connell, 105; Kevin Sullivan, 102; Brian Burns, 102; Gail Jackson, 100, and Butch Dunphy, 100.

Tony Petrino, a junior, bowled a 102 which was very close to beating John Norton's high single of 104. This score was the first shaking John's 105 has had since it was bowled 17 weeks ago.

The "King Pins", the first place team, has an outstanding record of 101 wins and only 19 losses. It is no wonder they are in first place, but everyone still has a chance.

TELSTAR BOWLING

Saturday's bowling proceeded as usual and the results were just as unpredictable as ever.

Next week will be a week of thrills, seeing which team will take over or keep second place.

There were only six seniors bowling 100 or above. They include Jack Beck, 114 and 111; Vinnie Masciulli, 107 and 103; Steve Linehan, 104; Don Shepard, 104; Bob Deguglielmo, 102, and Dave Wyse, 101.

In the Intermediate division the "Pans" successfully defended their position in first place when they took all 8 from the Jets.

Arlington Council of Churches Supports Integration

The growing concern of individuals in suburban communities with school problems was clearly expressed this week when the delegates to the annual meeting of the Arlington Council of Churches debated for an extended period on the wording of resolutions calling for "vigorous action" by the Boston School Committee and "sincere efforts" by the community to welcome newcomers without regard to race.

The council of churches represents twelve churches in Arlington with total congregations of more than five thousand parishioners and their families. The meeting was held at the First Parish, Unitarian.

In the annual business meeting, delegates who had attended the Boston Conference on Religion and Race, Jan. 13, made a clear case for two resolutions, which, in their final form, were adopted by unanimous vote. The resolutions are:

1) that the Arlington Council of Churches recognize its place in the Metropolitan Community and acknowledge its share of responsibility for the conditions of racial injustice and segregation that now exist in our Greater Boston area. Of particular concern is the substantial segregation that is producing inequalities of education in the Boston Public Schools.

Also, to urge the Boston School Committee to take more and vigorous action to improve the quality of educational opportunities for Negroes and other disadvantaged children and to work toward early and full integration in the Boston Public Schools, and,

2) that this meeting call upon the churches of Arlington to make sincere efforts to create a climate of opinion in churches and community favorable to open occupancy in housing and an attitude of welcome to newcomers without regard to race.

Very Revealing Figures Disclosed

Some amazing figures and facts concerning the stature of Arlington, as compared to twenty-four other communities in the state, appear in Town Manager Monahan's report to the Board of Selectmen.

It clearly shows that Arlington's cost of government, services and schools is second only to Belmont. However, our neighbors in that town own their own municipal power plant for lighting, which operates at considerable profit, despite lower rates to the residents.

Arlington's direct tax is $155.90 per capita while Belmont's is $143.30. Milton is third at $159.40. Weston stands highest at $281.10 — nearly twice as high!

On the income side, the report shows that Arlington ranks absolutely last as to per capita assessed valuation. Lexington is highest at $6,100 per capita, compared to our lowly figure of $1,800. The figure for Belmont is $2,600.

Although the report does not criticize anybody, it seems obvious to us that Arlington's assessing policy is far different than most. Residents can live here cheaper, while receiving services that many towns and cities do not even provide — such as rubbish collection.

Therefore, it is revealed that our residents are indeed fortunate in having a well run town under the Selectmen-Manager government and the people that hold these positions.

On the drab side, the report points up a fact that we all know to be true: we are not facing the future with any concrete plans to bring in more income. Therefore, things must worsen.

Manager Monahan writes, "Although all state and municipal authorities believe that something needs to be done to relieve the heavy burden on real estate property owners, it would seem that as we enter the year 1964, we are no nearer a solution than we have been for the last several years; nevertheless, there continues to be a 'crying' need for action."

It should be obvious that a group of people, and overall committee, is desperately needed.

Trustees and Corporators of Symmes, meeting at the hospital on Monday night for the annual meeting, were pleasantly surprised at the progress being made on the new wing.

They saw for themselves that the walls are rising . . . walls are in for the basement areas, and framing is in place for the pouring of the ground floor. Months of preparation were necessary, since the building site is almost solid rock ledge, necessitating a great deal of drilling and blasting.

William Maloney, of the Building Committee, presented a report of progress to the corporators in the absence of John Mirak, chairman.

It is hoped that the new wing will be ready for use by January, 1964. Not a day too soon, as is well known by the administrative staff of the Hospital who have been hard put to find room for the emergency and accident cases which continue to overtax existing facilities.

"Beds in the corridors are the usual thing and an absolute necessity," it was reported.

J. Milton Washburn, Jr., chairman of the nominating committee presented a slate for approval and all were unanimously elected.

Donald E. Nickerson of Lexington will continue as president of the Board of Trustees. Merwin F. Ashley and Harold A. Cahalin will serve as vice-presidents. Mrs. William E. Phillips, clerk, and R. Curtis Hamilton, treasurer. Other members of the Executive Board are John P. Mirak, Laurence A. Quick and J. Milton Washburn, Jr.

Newly elected to the Board of Trustees were Miss Dorothy P. Green and Jacob Katz. Newly elected Corporators were Francis A. Coughlin, William T. Welsh and Nathan B. Ricker.

A coffee hour preceded the meeting, and Miss Edith Winn and Mrs. Ernest Llewellyn served as pourers.

Board president, Mrs. Robert C. Spence, announces the 30th anniversary celebration of the Philharmonic Society of Arlington will be held Saturday, Feb. 8, at a reception and banquet honoring past conductors and presidents of the organization, formed in 1933.

Past presidents include Miss Grace Pierce, Mrs. G. F. Gruber, William A. Mueller, Dr. Ernest Brooks, Earl A. Ryder, Mrs. Morand F. Caldwell, W. Alan Morton, Mrs. Herbert Wallace, Mrs. J. Philip Bower, Mrs. George W. Stetson, Leonard D. Wood, Robert A. Ball, and Mrs. Robert C. Spence, current president.

As an extra feature for its 30th celebration banquet, Marvin Ravin, professor of Music at Boston University and conductor of the Boston Youth Symphony which played at the White House, will speak on the topic, "The Musical Organization: Its Place and Importance in the Community."

Current officers of the Philharmonic Society are Mrs. Robert Spence, president; Mr. Jack Guveyan, vice president; Miss Frances Park, clerk; and Mr. Prescott Dickey, treasurer.

Voters Respond

What do Arlington voters like most about their town? Recently, 878 of them took part in the Billafer study and indicated that they are most happy with their library facilities, rubbish collections and snow removal. They are least happy with traffic conditions at Arlington Center and street parking around shopping areas.

When it comes to specific suggestions, 95 per cent of those polled, felt that Town Meeting Members who are continually absent without a legitimate excuse should forfeit their seat in the Town Meeting. Of those taking part 76 per cent favored a change in Arlington's voting day from Monday to Saturday.

"We are putting together a far sighted program of action which most Arlington citizens will enthusiastically support," said Billafer at a recent meeting of his campaign workers in Arlington Heights.

"Already we have inserted in the Warrant, an article which would change Arlington's voting day from Monday to Saturday. This will be a welcome change because it means that a greater percentage of Arlington voters will be able to participate in our local elections. We must never have a repeat of last year's election when only 24.1 per cent of the electorate went to the polls."

"Within the next two weeks, we will announce the Billafer program for action. It will be based on the study that we made recently and we will immediately undertake to translate this program into community action," Billafer concluded.

Among those present were representatives from the Chamber of Commerce, Planning Board, Arlington Woman's club, Garden club, Tree Department, Zonta club and the Park Commission.

An initial program was voted, to encourage the planting of trees and the landscaping in Arlington Center to create a unifying visual link to connect the several areas.

Mrs. Gordon Thompson, temporary chairman, stated that this recommendation will be reviewed with the Town Manager and the Town Planner.

Citizens interested in this committee may join by contacting the chairman.

According to Felix Peter, he rushed to protect his daughter and was also thrown to the ground by the seemingly enraged animal.

He tried to restrain the cow by a rope on its neck but the ice and snow hampered his efforts. Mrs. Dorothea Peter had come out of the house during the ensuing noise and helped Jean back indoors. Dr. Carl Barstow was called to treat both daughter and father.

Meanwhile, calls had been made to police in Arlington and Lexington and the Mass. Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, all of whom responded.

The animal was loaded on a flatbed truck brought by the SPCA and returned to the Lexington farm from which it had started its unscheduled journey.

Later reports stated that the cow died.

ation, Arlington had the lowest assessed per capita figure at $1,800; this compared to the high of $6,100 in neighboring Lexington.

In the same report, Monahan explains that according to "First National Bank's Letters on Bond and Note Sales," issued periodically, Arlington's credit is the highest.

Monahan's report states, "On any given day, Arlington invariably borrows money at lower interest rates than any other city and town, whether borrowing be for a short term or long term."

Arlington also more than held its own in two other categories, free cash and per capita debt.

In the latter, the Town had a per capita debt of only $79.00. This figure was fourth from the lowest among the 24 communities. Highest per capita was Bedford's $574.

In the free cash category, Arlington ranked eighth, with a total of $870,034.

"Thus, once again the local community was in the top segment of the communities surveyed," Monahan pointed out. Selectman Arthur Saul in commenting on the Manager's report, stated that "this is the most graphic concept of what is going on in the town."

Mrs. Howell discussed the Code in terms of value in molding responsible citizens and supporting ego strengths in the young person.

The honors, however, in this oral presentation must go to the three students whose articulate, sincere and comprehensive presentation was most impressive.

Arlington School's S.T.E.P. Program Lauded By Commissioner Kiernan

New Fed. Funds To Mass. Schools

Massachusetts will receive $19,513,721 in the course of the next few years for educational purposes, the Massachusetts Teachers Association announced this week. The funds will come into this state as a result of recently enacted federal legislation.

Colleges will receive $5,913,223 for the construction of academic facilities and $1,296,905 will be received in grants for the construction of public junior colleges. For the expanded programs in vocational education, $12,303,593 in federal assistance will be received.

Massachusetts colleges also will share in the $360,000,000 federal funds made available for long-term, low-interest loans to colleges and universities.

In each state both public and private colleges may share in the higher education grants and loans according to state plans to be drawn up by a broadly representative state agency. These plans are to be submitted to the United States Office of Education for approval.

Grant funds may not be used for construction of religious facilities. They are restricted to specified uses—to assist in construction of facilities for instruction or research in the sciences, mathematics, modern foreign languages, engineering and libraries.

Apportionment of the funds generally is based on the student population, the association pointed out. But, in connection with grants to junior colleges, there is a per capita income factor which gives somewhat more generous treatment to the poorer states.

The aid to vocational education legislation vastly expands the federal contribution for this sort of school. The prior program called for annual appropriations of $57 million a year.

The new legislation would add to that sum a total of $730 million over the next four years, the Massachusetts Teachers Association pointed out, and then would level off to $235 million a year.

These two bills constitute a large segment of the omnibus National Education Improvement Act which President Kennedy submitted to Congress a year ago, but Congress has yet to act on a major feature of that proposal—federal aid to elementary and secondary education.

President Johnson, in signing the aid to higher education bill, made a point of noting that Congress has not completed the task set before it in dealing with education. He has made it clear on several occasions that he will ask for action to aid elementary and secondary schools, in the second session of Congress which began January 7, the Massachusetts Teachers Association pointed out.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS, Dr. Bert Roens, representing Arlington at a hearing of the Education Committee of the Mass. Legislature, outlined the program currently in operation in the Arlington schools for "drop-outs". Dr. Roens has supervised the program to encourage and assist any students who desire to return to school to better equip themselves to obtain employment.

The Cutter School P.T.A. will hold a morning coffee hour Feb. 13 at 9:45 a.m. in the teachers' room at the school.

Daniel Wolf, social worker for the Arlington School Department, will be the guest speaker. An informal discussion will follow.

At a hearing of the Education Committee of the Legislature at the State House recently Senator Mary L. Fonesca of Fall River, Chairman of the Education Committee, stated that the Arlington School Committee and the citizens of Arlington are to be congratulated for its Pupils Personnel Services and the STEP program for school drop-outs.

This came about as a result of the testimony of Superintendent Roens who had been invited to the hearing to tell about the Arlington program in reference to House Bill 21, "An Act To Provide Enriched Educational Opportunities for Underprivileged Children and Youth."

After Roens had been questioned by the Committee for forty minutes, Senator Fonesca asked the Superintendent to inform the School Committee and the people of the Town that they are to be congratulated for recognizing a serious problem which is nationwide and for doing something about it by supporting such a pilot project as Student-Toward Employment Program (STEP).

At the hearing it was brought out by the Commissioner of Education Owen B. Kiernan, that with the exception of Boston, which is using Ford Foundation money, no community, to his knowledge, within the state except Arlington was coming to grips with the problems encompassed in this bill.

Commissioner Kiernan told Roens that he wanted to add his commendation to the School Committee along with the Senator.

When we follow Jesus' example we are filled with love—so much so that we express understanding and forgiveness and handle every situation and circumstance with love.

"Know Your Town"

The following article is the third in a series of excerpts from the "Know Your Town" booklet published by the Arlington League of Women Voters in 1963.

Town Manager-Job Description

The Town Manager, who is appointed by the Selectmen, is responsible for the effective day-to-day operation of town services and departments (except schools).

The Town Manager Act of 1952 created a centralized administrative authority responsible for the majority of Town functions and departments. Under the act the Manager is the chief administrative officer of the Town and purchases all supplies, materials and equipment (except educational supplies and books for schools and libraries). He is responsible for the maintenance of all Town property including schools. He has charge of all rental and cooperative use of Town property excepting schools.

With a few exceptions, the Town Manager appoints most non-elected Town Officials. His appointing power, however, is limited by the fact that many of his appointments must be approved by the Selectmen.

The Town Manager keeps records of all his transactions and reports to the Selectmen when requested; he also advises them on the needs of the Town and makes recommendations.

BIRTH

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steeves of Foxboro, a daughter, Karen Ruth, on Jan. 23.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Greene of Warwick, Rhode Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Steeves of Arlington.

Representing Arlington in the orchestra are Paul Brittan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brittan, 46 Westminster ave., Margaret Gonyea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gonyea, 31 Linden st.; Karl Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin, 94 Alpine st.; Adrienne Geanisis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Geanisis, 281 Washington st.; Carl Nitchie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nitchie of 52 Hillsdale rd.; Paul Traverse, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Traverse, 104 Highland ave.; Alison Trott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loring Trott, 100 Paul Revere rd.; Arthur Wharton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wharton, 38 Academy rd. and Steven Kossak, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kossak, 90 Ridge st.

Library Offers Career Reading

What occupations offer the best opportunities to young people? How can one find a suitable life work? The Robbins Library has a large number of books and pamphlets which may help those trying to choose careers. Many vocational materials are available which discuss various types of occupations and qualifications needed.

Two fine recent books on choosing careers and their library call numbers are Glenn Gardner's "How You Can Get The Job You Want" (371.425 G) and Virginia Westervelt's "Choosing A Career In A Changing World" (371.425 W). Both offer advice on various aspects of the subject.

Other helpful titles are "Successfully Finding Yourself and Your Job" (371.425 M) by F. Alexander Magoun; "The Twenty Minute Lifetime: A Guide To Career Planning" by Gavin Pitt (371.42 P); "Your Vocational Adventure" (371.425 B) by Jesse Durt; "From High School To A Job" (371.425 P) by Adrian Paradis, and "Occupational Outlook Handbook" (Ref. 371.425 O).

The library also has books about individual fields. A few of the recent ones include Philip Pollack's "Careers and Opportunities in Science" (506.9 P); Candy Jones Conover's "Make Your Name In Modeling and Television" (659.1 C); Lewis Zarem's "Careers and Opportunities in Astronautics" (629.14 Z); Francis Smith's "Find A Career in Education" (371 S) and Wallace West's "Find A Career In Electronics" (621.38 W).

In addition to books, on careers, the library has many vocational pamphlets which describe various occupations and the kind of education needed for them.

Even those young people who have a fairly definite idea of the kind of work they want to do, may find it worthwhile to look over materials covering a wide range of fields before deciding which to enter.

Harvard Trust

Stockholders of Harvard Trust Company at their annual meeting voted to increase the authorized capital stock by 220,000 shares of $10 par value each to a total of 440,000 shares.

The new shares will be distributed, as voted by the Directors, on Feb. 10, pro rata to stockholders of record January 31 in the ratio of one new share for each of the 220,000 shares now outstanding, subject to approval of the Bank Commissioner. The distribution will be in effect a two-for-one stock split of the 220,000 shares now outstanding, accompanied by transfer to $2,200,000 from surplus to capital.

New directors elected at this meeting were John M. Curley, Jr., president of Eastern Stainless Steel Corporation; Robert W. Fawcett, president and treasurer of Robert Fawcett & Son Co., and John F. Rich, president of New England Gas and Electric Association.

President Thaddeus R. Beal reported that per share earnings for 1953 were $6.19 as compared with $6.03 in 1952 and total resources again increased to a new high of $141,530.155.
